Part II: Bill Provisions and the Estimated Fiscal Impact Relating to Local Government
HB 100 HCS would require local governments to continue to issue permits for up to 180 days after the death of an electrical contractor to the business relying on that electrical contractor's license. The fiscal impact is expected to be minimal because the deceased contractor's license permit number would still be used by the company until the permit expires. Once the permit expires, the new electrical contractor of the company will have to apply for a new permit number through the Department of Housing, Buildings, and Construction.
